Mustang Creek Estates Begins Construction of $7.5M Affordable Community Near Dallas

May 22, 2017 Published in The Latest News

SACHSE, Texas — Mustang Creek Estates has started construction of Mustang Creek Estates of Sachse, a $7.5 million affordable assisted living and memory care community in the Dallas suburb of Sachse.

The 42,000-square-foot property will be Dallas-based Mustang's fifth community in the metro area. The property will include six homes that can house up to 16 seniors each.

Mustang is accepting reservations for the community now, in preparation for a planned opening this fall.

Civil engineer Joseph Helmberger of Kimley-Horn designed the property, which sits on seven acres. Scott Roberts of Creative Architects in Garland is the architect for the project.
